Ecological Workforce Training Program
Based in Jackson and Josephine Counties

Looking for a meaningful job working outside this fall?

Would you like to gain transferable skills in forestry, ecology, and habitat restoration?

Want to make some extra cash for the holidays?

Make a difference in the natural world. Put on your boots and gloves and develop valuable job skills as you work to restore the forests and streams of southwest Oregon.

You’ll gain transferable workforce experience as you learn about career paths in natural resources, ecosystem restoration, science, and ecology.

Under the guidance of Lomakatsi’s professional workforce trainers, as well as guest presentations by natural resource specialists, you may take part in stewardship-related activities that include:

- Ecological Restoration
- Technical Forestry
- Ecological Monitoring
- Watershed Management
- Invasive Species Management
- Soil Science
- Botany
- Stream Restoration
- Fire Ecology
- Wildlife Habitat Restoration
- Trail Maintenance
- And More!
